Brief descriptions of the types of conflict of interest

Financial/ Pecuniary interests

Money does not need to change hands for an interest to be pecuniary/ financial. People have a pecuniary/ financial interest if they (or a relative or other close associate) own property, hold shares, have a position in a company bidding for government work, or receive benefits (such as concessions, discounts, gifts or hospitality) from a particular source. Or when there was actual exchange of cash in the form of loan or lending of money between the two parties.

Close Personal Relationship:

Close personal relationship should include anyone who is related through blood.

Other Personal relationship:

Other personal relationship should include everyone who enjoys intimate relationship like family doctors, lawyers, and close friends.

Enmity

Conflict of Interest not only occurs in the form of good relations, it can equally or more seriously occur in the situation of enmity. Conflicts of interest can be actual, perceived or potential.

- An actual conflict of interest involves a direct conflict between a public official's current duties and responsibilities and existing private interests.
- A perceived or apparent conflict of interest can exist where it could be perceived, or appears, that a public official's private interests could improperly influence the performance of their duties – whether or not this is in fact the case.
- A potential conflict of interest arises where a public official has private interests that could conflict with their official duties in the future.
